DEFINING EXCELLENCE

Living the balanced way of life demanded by the boarding community can sometimes leave a school endangered by the accusation that it is all things to all people. As one seeks to imbue each generation with an actual sense of modesty about the best of their achievements so it can then be the case that, all too often, what is done excellently, takes a back seat. Faced by increasing competition from a world highly conscious of marketing itself, Ridley needs to respond to the challenge of defining where it is excellent, concentrating on promoting areas where we can improve and then conveying it with clarity.

Recently Administration, the Prefects, and, indeed, my breakfast guests have all been tasked to give some thought to what we perceive as real strengths. Fundamentally there are always features which any great school would like to claim. Beyond that there are some really unique selling points of the place.

Ridley, as one of Canada's pre-eminent boarding schools can be proud of its product both in terms of the international intake and the friendly nature in which boarding integrates across the system. Uniquely, the day students blend entirely into this picture; the special way in which the residential rooms are shared with two boarders and one day student to each. We are proud of the universal strength of our three pillars of academics, athletics and the arts. The areas of full agreement amongst the bleary-eyed at breakfast speak of the strength of Ridley's teaching and the facilities which give the best pedagogical advantages. Recent job evaluations with colleagues reveal deep appreciation of being at the cutting edge of teaching opportunity; certainly it is a decisive point for people when they are considering career changes and the school is truly a front runner in providing such an environment, as well as key opportunities for professional development.

Ridley works hard to produce an all round blend of students. Part of accessing a wide cross section of people is achieved through having what feels to be one of the most highly developed financial assistant programmes of all Canadian schools.

Benchmarking ourselves against the opposition would tend to suggest we are reaching a higher proportion of people than virtually anyone.

Within our well developed and now mature coeducational system such a programme will give us the positive identification of being an inclusively all round school. This is an area which will need further planned development.

When the Prefects were questioned about Ridley's strengths they believed that the key to the success lies in the fact that it is more than just a school. When you come to Ridley you sign up to something which never leaves you - effectively you are joining one of the world's acknowledged networks which emanates from the shared educative experience gained in school. Ridleians are a recognized brand wherever they go and the Prefects suggested that Ridley was particularly strong at getting people ready for university. Not only does this mean that they are well prepared academically but, through the routines and structures, and that includes the discipline, Ridleians are able to thrive when they reach that "wider world". Beyond that there is "a niche" for everyone at Ridley provided they are prepared to try and as long as they can pick up elements of that indefinable word "spirit". With just over 600 in the school there remains a strong community or "family" feel, friendships can be made across the different grades and involvement in the vast range of opportunities gives everyone a chance to excel.

People often talk about schools where you can be jacks of all trade and masters of none. Without individual focus, this could be the case for Ridleians but it certainly is more the case that peo-

A CHRISTMAS FAYRE TO REMEMBER!

On Friday, November 30th, with a storm brewing and the winds howling, Santa, Headmaster and Mrs. Leigh arrived by horse and carriage to open the Christmas Fayre at Middle School. Santa delighted the young children with his captivating storytelling, and the starry eyed youngsters were having trouble believing that Santa was actually walking the halls in their school! The Christmas trees were aglow, the carolers singing, the vendors selling their wares, brass bands playing and the hum of content conversation was evident as the Ridley community gathered to celebrate friendship over a glass of cider and perhaps a goodie from the baked table. To all those who attended this event, on behalf of the Family Guild, we thank you so very much for your terrific support – we are deeply grateful!

DEBATING IN ENGLAND

The Ridley College Debating Society participated in the annual International Independent Schools' Competition (Oct. 19-29). Normally held throughout schools in North America, this year's event was hosted by Queen Anne's School in Caversham, England. This unique tournament features a variety of public speaking and debating events and is a highlight of the year's calendar in this activity. Having graduated many experienced members of the club, this year's team was comprised entirely of newcomers - Tristan von Zahn '09, Alexander Last '09, and Erin O'Rourke '11.

Prior to the actual event, Ridley teamed up with other Ontario schools for a memorable three-day tour of England. Familiar landmarks of London were visited, including Westminster Abbey, The Tower of London, and Buckingham Palace. Visits to the world famous prehistoric ruins of Stonehenge, the Roman City of Bath, Stratfordon-Avon, and Windsor Castle allowed for a first hand experience of the rich historical and cultural tradition of England. Fittingly, the final day's visit took us to the university town of Oxford. A walking tour of the town started at the Martyrs Monument- a memorial to Bishops Hugh Latimer, Nicholas Ridley, and Thomas Cranmerwho were burned at the stake for their religious convictions in 1555 and 1556. Their collective martyrdom gave rise to Protestantism in England, and the legacy of Bishop Nicholas Ridley that lives on in the famous name of our school today.

In high spirits and with great enthusiasm, the Ontario teams joined up with other schools throughout Canada, the United States, Bermuda, Cyprus, and of course the United Kingdom. The competition was intense, but collegial. Alexander Last performed well in both parliamentary debates, while Erin O'Rourke delivered an effective persuasive speech and interpretive reading. Both received commendations from the judges for their efforts. In terms of individual achievement, South African exchange student Tristan von Zahn was the top Ridley performer. He debated well, delivered a humorous after-dinner speech, and reached the finals of impromptu speaking. In all, over 140 competitors from 42 schools were represented in this tournament, the largest of its kind in the independent schools' network. While Ridley did not feature in this year's honours, the team gained valuable knowledge and first-hand education in a setting that will long be remembered for its history, literature, and culture. Our team proved to be worthy ambassadors of the Ridley name, and enriched by the experience.

RIDLEY CONFERENCE ON VIOLENCE

The Ridley Conference on Violence took place on Tuesday, October 30th in the Mandeville Theatre for students enrolled in the Grade 11 Introduction to Anthropology, Psychology and Sociology course. Speakers included Staff Sgt. Rob Bermuhler (Ontario Provincial Police), a speaker from Women's Place of St. Catharines, and Professor Dale Bradley (Brock University Department of Communications, Popular Culture and Film). Sgt. Bermuhler spoke vividly of terrifying violent situations he faced as a frontline police officer and of the difficult social context which often lies behind an individual's violent behaviour. The speaker from Women's Place spoke movingly about the situations faced by many of the women and children she sees in her line of work focusing on the young people who go to the shelter. She also presented the causes that often lie behind domestic violence and suggested how we as a society might resolve the problem in the longer term.

Prof. Bradley described academic studies that have attempted to show a connection between violence in the media, whether entertainment (video games, movies and TV shows) or news shows, and violent behaviour. The three very different perspectives made for a very interesting afternoon. The conference complemented recent paleoanthropological evidence considered in class that suggests our remote ancestors also lived in a world that included violence. The conference may also have inspired some students in their choice of essay topic later in the course.

RIDLEY COLLEGE TOPS THE VOTES IN THE "WONDERS OF ST. CATHARINES"

This past fall the local newspaper, The St. Catharines Standard ran a contest and invited readers to log onto the paper's website and vote for what they considered a "wonder" in the city. Ridley College earned top place with 488 votes! Geography teacher Nick Holmes voted for his institution - and he convinced hundreds of others to do the same.

"This just wasn't a few kids voting over and over again on their laptops," said Mr. Holmes, "This was students and teachers and alumni and groundskeepers - everybody. Everyone is proud of their school." The next closest in the contest was the Niagara Escarpment (159 votes), Lakeside Park Carousel (154 votes) and the Welland Canal (129 votes).

RIDLEY COLLEGE STUDENT JOEL WHITTY MAKES PROVINCIAL TEAM

Ridley College senior point guard Joel Whitty '08 was named to the Ontario Juvenile Men's provincial basketball team this past summer. The provincial team participated in the Canadian National Men's Championships this past August in Lennoxville/Sherbrooke, Quebec. Joel was selected as one of 12 members of the squad representing players from across the province.

More recently, Joel was named the St. Catharines Standard Boy's Basketball Tournament All Star during one of the games. He led the Tigers to two tournament wins against E.L. Crossley and Denis

Morris. Joel averaged 17 points and 11 assists in the tournament and was an easy selection for the tournament committee.

MIDDLESCHOOL

CATCHING UP WITH OUR YOUNGEST TIGERS - GRADES 1-4

Since September, the primary division has taken on a life of its own. It has proceeded to embrace and be embraced by the greater community, and has found a home. These energetic and curious young people have participated in a number of activities including: field trips to Henley House and Puddicombe Farms, Reading Buddies, Tribe Sports, Halloween parades, Rainforest Activities & Book Fair, and celebrations and festivals. The adventure continues.

On December 12th, Ridley College presented a musical production of Hans Christian Andersen's The Snow Queen. This performance included all students in grades 1-4 as well as a significant number of actors and actresses from grades 5 and 6. It was truly a night to remember.

Beginning in January, the students will be introduced to a number of physical activity modules. These will include skating, dancing, and swimming. In addition, we look forward to participating in Brock University's PALS - Positive Active Living for Students - program. Also, the primary choir will begin rehearsing for upcoming performances and our public speakers will take to the stage to display their skills.

On behalf of Mr. Leigh, Mr. Milligan and the entire Middle School faculty, we would like to express our gratitude to all members of the Ridley family who have enthusiastically supported this initiative. There is still much to come and we look forward to the development and enrichment of the primary division!

Elizabeth Clarke, Program Coordinator

Ridley College Middle School is getting a new name. If you are thinking that "Lower School" has a familiar ring to it, you are right! For the September 2008 school year, RCMS will become known as RLS (Ridley Lower School), a name that has defined the grades located at the south end of the campus for much of the school's storied history. In conjunction with the reorganization of the school in 1988-89, which included the retirement of Lower School Headmaster, The Reverend Donald Hunt, and the relocation of grade 9 to the Upper School, the name Middle School was first adopted. This was a name consistently used in North American schools composed of "middle" grades. The addition of grades 1-4 this year means that we are no longer just a school composed of the "middle grades", hence the change back to the name Lower School to start next school year.

MIDDLE SCHOOL BOOK FAIR

During the week of October 23-26, the Middle School hosted a book fair with the help of Scholastic Books. The theme of the fair was the "Rainforest" and many of our younger students supported this theme by helping to decorate the school and coming to school in costume. The goals of the fair were to connect students to the books they want to read, help build school, classroom and home libraries, generate community involvement and raise funds in order to purchase books for the McLaughlin Resource Centre. This highly successful event realized a $2,500 book credit that will allow us to augment the classroom libraries in grades 1-4. Thanks very much to Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Meyers and the many parent volunteers who helped to make the fair a smashing success from which our students will all benefit. Thanks also to all families who supported the fair through the purchase of books.

MIDDLE SCHOOL CROSS COUNTRY RUN

On Monday, October 1st, the 105th annual Middle School Cross Country Run was held under perfect conditions. Open girls winner Chelsea Fischer '12 (3rd year in succession) established a new record in the event, while Bryce Rudd '12 took home first place honours for the boys in the Open division. Other winners included Fiona Adams and Alexander Matovic '15(U/11), Elizabeth Gross '14 and Cosmo Steier '14 (U/12), and Emma Hudson '13 and Andrew Park '13 (U/13). The winning tribe was the Algonquins.

GRADE 7/8 "FAMILY AND FRIENDS CPR ANYTIME" TRAINING

On October 12th, the grade seven and eight students participated in a program called "Family and Friends CPR Anytime" in conjunction with Heart Niagara. Each student received training, a kit that includes a CPR practice DVD, inflatable CPR manikin and an information booklet. Ridley is the first school in the area to pilot this initiative and include CPR training as a part of its health curriculum in grades 7 and 8. Special thanks to Phys. Ed. Head Mr. David Whitty for providing the idea, and to Mr. Andrew Corolis for making it happen.

TAMARA KIT '08 WRITES ABOUT HER VIMY EXPERIENCE

59,757: it's a random number to many. But because of my experiences this summer, I've begun to understand its significance. That's because as a Vimy Foundation scholarship participant, I saw 59,757 graves of soldiers who gave their lives in the First and Second World Wars. That's an overwhelming number, and not nearly a complete count of lives lost. It begs some big questions: How could this happen? Why did it happen?

As I stepped off the plane in Heathrow Airport in London, England this past August, I had no idea what an intense, educational rollercoaster I was about to ride. I traveled with the Vimy Foundation to England and France to experience first-hand world-renowned museums, battlefields and many monuments and cemeteries. The 16day journey provided me with a deeper understanding of war and conflict and also with personal experiences that I will cherish forever. The Vimy Foundation is a summer scholarship program designed by co-founders Sir Nicholas Bonsor, a former member of British parliament, and Andrew Powell. Their goal in designing the programme was to enrich young people's understanding about international disputes, particularly the World Wars. Three French students, two British students and eight Canadian students were chosen from a variety of independent schools to represent their countries. The trip was a carefully planned adventure, which allowed me to travel back to 1914 and 1939, years of great historical significance, not to mention times of great suffering and uncertainty. Spending just five days outside of London at Harrow School, I quickly began to realize the educational value of the Vimy Foundation. In London, our group visited the Imperial War Museum, the HMS Belfast, St. Paul's Cathedral and many other attractions pertaining to war. We also toured the areas of London that were destroyed during WWII (during the Blitz) and had very interesting guest speakers back in Harrow, including Major John Majendie, a WWII veteran who served in Normandy, and Captain John Harris, who has served recently in Afghanistan. Hearing these men talk was a real honour because one does not always have the opportunity to encounter vivid, first-hand descriptions of war, both past and present.

Perhaps the most meaningful experience in England, I felt, was the seminar we were lucky enough to attend at Oxford University. Our group traveled to Pembroke College, bright and early, with our prepared reading in hand, nervously awaiting the seminar led by two brilliant Oxford professors. At first I was imagining a daunting stereotype of balding men with elbow-patched corduroy jackets smelling faintly of tea and biscuits. However, these professors shocked the lot of us as we stepped foot in Pembroke College. They were dressed very casually, and were eager themselves to meet us and to hear all our opinions. The entire morning was spent discussing (and at times arguing about) issues in the First World War. Years melted away and an event that shaped world history long ago suddenly grew into a relevant topic directly connected to current events.

At the completion of our time in England, we kissed the white cliffs of Dover goodbye and traveled on a ferry to Douai, France. France was where I really connected with history in a way that a classroom setting could never allow. We visited countless battlefields such as the Artois Battlefields, the Loos Battlefields, The Somme Battlefields and, of course, the Vimy Ridge Memorial and Battlefields. We also toured the caves and tunnels at Vimy Ridge, and Arras, which extended my knowledge and deepened my understanding of intricate war operations. The tragedy and madness of war were made manifest too. Visions from the poem "In Flanders Field" came alive as I visited countless cemeteries. My emotional response to these experiences took me by surprise, especially as we participated in small remembrance ceremonies and focused on the life stories of specific soldiers as we came across their names in the cemeteries.

Two major highlights of the trip were traveling to Dieppe for the 65th Anniversary of the Dieppe Raid in 1942. Here, we represented youth from Canada, France and England as we commemorated those who lost their lives in the terrible blood bath. Meeting with veterans, some of whom actually survived the Dieppe Raid, was a truly meaningful experience. It expanded my appreciation for our modern, convenient lives and gave tangibility to the sacrifices that were made. Also, another aspect that stood out on this trip was having the opportunity to spend the day with Mr. Jacques Vico, a French Resistance fighter in WWII, who shared with us his touching stories of hardship and survival.

In the end, my Vimy experience was of course memorable, but I learned far more than I ever believed I would. I created close friendships with students from around the world, each with a passion for learning and adventure. Experiencing French and British culture and the French language was a magnificent opportunity, one for which I am extremely grateful for. Most importantly, I realized that history is alive; it doesn't just exist in the pages of textbooks. 59,757 could no longer be just a number, but instead, a sea of faces, flowing out of the past, washing over our present and shaping our future.

RIDLEY COLLEGE CADET CORPS - A HISTORY

"Paul Lewis' massive contribution to our great day sets the scene on the different generations who have marched. Through reflecting on the context of the age throughout the century, it is possible to see how the tradition of cadets has ebbed and flowed. Over the one hundred years, however, Ridleians have remained steadfast in their adherence to the cadet phenomenon that has become an aspect of their school careers and subsequent characters.

Nine Headmasters have supported No. 162 RC(A)CC. At times cadets has been in direct tune with the age: at others it has been refined to fit the shifting emphases of a school forever caught in the tide of educational and social flux. Nonetheless, it is representative of the barometer of Ridley's spirit. Ridley College Cadet Corps - A History testifies to this fact and is superbly backed with illustrations that illuminate values propounded in the cadet program."

Great Hall construction scenes from summer 2007

SUMMER PROJECTS 2007

The summer of 2007 was a busy one on campus, especially for the Physical Plant Department. There were countless needs to be attended to, from major renovations down to the painting of dorm rooms. Four projects: the renovation of the kitchen and Great Hall, the renovation of the Matthews Library, the new Reading Garden outside the library and the Hugh Slater Tennis complex kept the men and women who work in the maintenance and grounds departments hopping!

GREAT HALL KITCHEN RENOVATION

Redesigned the Upper School kitchen to meet current building and health department codes, which included:

- Demolished small dining area, scullery and dishwashing area on the main floor as well as much of the basement.
- Installed new 'prep' kitchen, complete with walk-in cooler in the basement.
- Removed the existing dumbwaiter, enlarged the area and installed a two person, or one person and a cart,
- Replaced all hood systems with a new energy efficient system
- Created a new kitchen area, servery and dishwashing area within the existing kitchen footprint.
- Installed $360,000 worth of new equipment.
- Replaced existing sewer lines in the kitchen as a visual inspection showed them to have deteriorated beyond repair.
- Installed new floor tile.
- Provided new portable self-serve area within the Great Hall along with drink stations that can be closed off for formal functions
- Installed gas fired open flame log in existing fireplace.

MATTHEWS LIBRARY RENOVATION

Redesigned Matthews Library to provide a modern, yet classic, feel as well as created a new Admission Office outside the library area.

LIBRARY READING GARDEN

Created a new warm and inviting garden just outside the Matthews Library to provide students and staff a quiet place to read, teach or merely contemplate life.

NEW HUGH SLATER TENNIS COMPLEX

Designed and constructed five new tennis courts and a pavilion as the first phase of our new Athletic Complex.

To see more photos from the past summer's projects, see the Headmaster's Message in the Annual Report section in this Tiger.

HOMECOMING 2007

The reunion classes ending in 2's and 7's were truly blessed with a most beautiful and sunny weekend to celebrate their Homecoming. Many alumni returned early on the Friday to take in tours of the campus and visit faculty and friends. On Friday the school hosted the first meeting of the Board of Governors followed by a welcoming reception in the Ross E. Morrow Theatre. Many traveled from far and near to attend and enjoyed catching up during the cocktail hour. In fact, everyone was having such a good time it was a difficult task for our resident piper, Colin MacKay '11 to move the party into the Great Hall where a wonderful dinner awaited. The class of '57 marked their 50th milestone and we welcome another class of "Old Tigers" to the honourable list of names.

Saturday began with the Annual General Meeting of the Ridley College Association (RCA), followed by the Headmaster's address. Following the formalities of the day, a memorable afternoon unfolded as alumni took in our teams who met on the fields for losses and victories. Future "Tigers" enjoyed face painting, jumping up a storm on the inflatables and visiting the Cricket Shed for refreshments.

The remarkable weather carried over to Sunday and we were able to bask in sunlight as Prayers of Remembrance were offered in the newly refurbished Great Hall Cloisters. A special thanks to The Rev. Tim Novis and Mr. Ken Hutton and the choir for offering up an inspiring service in the Memorial Chapel. Following the service, those in attendance enjoyed a time of fellowship and refreshments in the Chapel courtyard. The afternoon provided alumni with a chance to meet on the field for a competitive game of soccer with current students and, for the rowers, a trip down the Henley with a post event BBQ at the island.

Through the efforts of an incredible team the weekend was an enormous success. I would like to thank all those who volunteered of their time and talent with special thanks to my colleagues, Bryan Rose '96, Anne Kubu, Diana Taylor, The Ridley College Family Guild and the staff of Chartwells who spent an exhausting weekend preparing meals, receptions etc. Without all of you this magnificent annual event would not be able to happen.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

This fall, Ridley College produced the Pulitzer prize winning play You Can't Take It With You. Not only was it an excellent play to watch, it was also an excellent play with which to be involved. I, Dylan Mitchell-Funk, have been charged to provide you, with a nostalgic account of this great experience. So, let us imaginatively begin with the beginning:

As a first-timer in the drama circuit, I found myself feeling nervous before the try-out process. The feeling was fleeting, however, as everyone I encountered was accommodating and friendly. My fellow would-be actors were supportive, not catty (as television would lead us to believe).

Once the cast had been selected by the dramatic hive-mind known as Sween-Way™ (an amalgam of Mr. Sweeney and Mrs. Tredway,) we began to practice. And practice. And practice. And forget lines. And then practice some more. One would think that so much practicing would be tiring, but it was the opposite. We were such a dynamic group of people, that it was hard to feel tired. Instead we seemed to feed off of each other's energy. We were constantly laughing, even when we weren't supposed to be, which we all know makes things funnier!

As opening night approached, things kept humming along. Costumes were getting sorted, props were falling into place, and our set was nearing completion. At any given moment, you could find at least one person silently mouthing their lines, committing the words to memory. Interestingly enough, the tangible excitement in the air was not accompanied by fear. As a cast, we were remarkably calm as opening night loomed. Of course, there was the odd bout of butterflies-in-thestomach, but they often left as quickly as they had appeared.

The weekend before our performances, we all met on a Saturday in the Ross E. Morrow Theatre for a marathon practice session -known colloquially as "Immersion Weekend." The title held true as our full Saturday and a portion of Sunday went towards practicing, polishing characters, fixing stage positions, and rehearsing entrances.

The Monday following, we performed for our first audience, consisting of Middle School students, adults, and various members of faculty. Despite a technical difficulty with the dining table (which started to collapse with a passed-out actress, Karoshee, on top), the performance went swimmingly. The next one, done for a mixture of senior citizens and members of Mainstream, went similarly well - though our ability to stay in character was tested by the enthusiastic and sometimes vocal audience. And two nights later, there we were, performing for a theatre full of friends and relatives.

Opening night was a flurry of activity, with actors and crew preparing costumes, and doting mothers applying make-up and/or coiffing our hair. The air crackled with anticipation, excitement, and impromptu sing-alongs of David Bowie and Queen songs. The curtain rose, and we were off; our old selves replaced by the characters we had wrought during numerous rehearsals. Three nights later, we did the same thing for the third and final time. Each performance had gone by without [major] incident, and each one was unique in our memory. We were now faced with the fact that we'd finished our run, and emotions ran high. Happiness, relief and sadness were the main feelings as we went for a dinner afterwards.

I can say without exaggerating that being a part of the play ranks among my fondest Ridley memories. It was an uproarious experience for all involved, and one that will be hard to forget.

ple here are jacks of all trades and masters of really quite a few. The most outstanding Ridleians will have tasted success in a whole host of different directions. They know what true commitment really is to their work, to athletics and to the community at large. The key to being a Ridleian remains to be someone who is comfortable in his or her own shoes as well as in the company of anyone else. That, plus the acquisition of a certain entrepreneurial spirit, means that ORs are well equipped to face a future where continual change is the one constant in front of them.

In no way should one be complacent about what it is we try to do. It all takes an enormous amount of positive direction and energy. However, at each graduation day, as Ridleians spread to the four corners of the earth there is a palpable sense of pride that, in their varying careers here, an immense amount has been achieved. It seems trivial to reduce what invariably cannot be fully measured to terms such as "best". However, being known as a school which is up there challenging the best and by this one means thinking ahead, Ridley can truly remain a brand name within the modern market place. From many diverse backgrounds, out of the most beautiful campus which most people can think of, Ridleians can carry away a sustaining impact gained from their school days.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HAVE YOUR NAME ON A DINING HALL CHAIR?

There have been no chairs available for engraving in the Great Hall for years, much to the disappointment of many alumni. This past fall, Mr. Ross Gale '64 inquired whether Ridley would be receptive to having names on the dining room chairs in Williams Hall - Middle School. After a brief consultation, Ridley's Advancement Team agreed. Ross Gale is pictured with his chair in the Williams Hall.

TERMSPORTSREPORT

1ST BASKETBALL - CISAA SILVER MEDALISTS, OFSAA REPRESENTATIVES

1st Basketball's historic season was dominated by tenacious Tiger defense. The team was lead by co-captains Sara Jones '08 (12 rebounds, 6 points per game) and Chantal Primeau '08 (6 rebounds, 2 steals per game). In addition, Kayla Landry '08, Sinead McGoldrick '08 and Charlene McKenna '09 intimidated opponents by dominating the paint and the boards at both ends of the court. Led by returning guards Hilary Whitty '09 (7 rebounds, 7 points, 4 steals per game) and Emily Groat '09 (8 assists, 4 steals per game), the guards were packed with offensive punch and high energy. Newcomers Hilary Leitch '09, Lauren Chisholm '10 and Ainsley Camroux-Peacock '11 added lots of offense and helped the Tigers lead the league in lowest points against for a sixth consecutive season. Also helping out-hustle and out-muscle opponents on defense were: Alexandra Collins '08, Amanda Jackson '08, and Alessandra Koengeter '09.

Finishing second in the regular season, the team traveled to Trinity College School for the final four CISAA championship. In the semi-final match, Ridley worked out some jitters after not playing a game in two week's time. Camroux-Peacock led the charge at both ends of the floor. Whitty and Leitch created several crucial turnovers to earn Ridley the victory over Havergal College. In the final game in front of a standing room only and very noisy gym, Ridley came out slowly against Trinity College School and were down 17-7 early. Ridley's defense took over, silencing fans and frustrating their offense, bringing the game back to 18-16 at half time. Foul trouble and injuries shortened the bench in the third quarter and TCS capitalized quickly before Ridley could adjust. Both teams battled hard in the fourth quarter, trading baskets and playing exceptional defense. Although Ridley came up short on the scoreboard, the girls played a physical and determined game, representing our school very well. Groat played the best game of her career, quarterbacking the offense and keeping our team cool and composed. The girls worked hard to earn a CISAA silver medal. This fantastic group of young women are also the first girls basketball team in Ridley history to earn the right to compete at OFSAA.

Competing at OFSAA basketball is a marathon of physical battles with minimal recovery time. With a very tough schedule vs. three top seeds, our girls played hard and left everything on the court. Highlights include Hilary Whitty's 25 point break out game in Ridley's victory over St. Dominic and outstanding team defense in a great battle with eventual silver medalists, L'Essor.

With four starters and seven players back next year, our young team will certainly be a force again.

UNDER 14 FIELD HOCKEY - REPEAT CISAA GOLD MEDAL WINNERS!

On paper, it looked like the Under 14 Field Hockey team was going to have a tough season this year. With more than a dozen players graduating from the Middle School last year after winning the CISAA 2006 Championship and only one returning grade 8 player, the squad was primarily made of younger members of the Middle School. It looked like this was going to be a rebuilding year but from the first game of the season where the team came away with a 5-0 victory, we began to think that this team might have what it took. Under the leadership of four year veteran member of the team, team captain Alison Whitty '12, the team finished its regular season with a 8-2-0 record and earned a first place berth for the west division in the final tournament.

The pool play of the championship day saw Ridley face Bishop Strachan School and Havergal.

Game 1 versus BSS: The girls started the game hard with a beautiful goal by Alison Whitty, assisted by Kennedy Farr '13. The goal gave the girls the wind they needed to play hard and helped them work through their nerves. Ellen McCann '13 got the second goal of the game and the girls held on to the 2-0 score to win the game. The most impressive part of this game was the team work that the girls put together. The passing, communication, and movement to support their teammates were the backbone of this team's success.

Game 2 versus Havergal: With a win in this game, the girls knew that they would secure their space in the championship game. Paulina Calzada Ibarra '12 scored a beautiful goal to get the team going. In the 2nd half, captain Alison Whitty put together a hat trick. The first two of her goals were penalty flicks which she executed beautifully. The third was a very pretty goal from the top of the D. The great goal tending by rookie goalie Sophie Ward '14 kept the score where we wanted it. Nearly every member of the Ridley team was in on the action in this game. The girls showed that the team has real depth.

Championship Game versus St. John's-Kilmarnock: This game was a rematch of the final game from last season. The girls were determined to hold on to their title and came out ready to put together a victory, and they did so convincingly. The team victory was sealed by goals from Paulina Calzada Ibarra, Ellen McCann, Ashley O'Brien '14, and Emily Bidochka '14. This game was again a true team effort, with the defensive line of Maria Rodriguez Castillo '12, Emma O'Neill '13, Kali Lockett '13, and Karla Estrella Contreras '12 and midfielders Emily Bidochka '14, Rachel Kulhanek '15, and Brooklynn Cappellazzo '14 making consistently strong and sure tackles.

The girls deserve to be very proud of the way that they played throughout the season. They demonstrated true sportsmanship, team spirit, and great toughness both on and off the field hockey pitch. With thanks to the graduating members of the squad, especially captain Alison Whitty, we look to the future of Under 14 Field Hockey and with more than a dozen members of the team returning to Middle School next year, the future looks bright.

ARCHIVALCORNER

RIDLEY PIONEER! FREDERICK WALKER "CASEY" BALDWIN O.R. 1900 1882-1948

"Casey" Baldwin is a Canadian who deserves a book in his own right. Had he been an American, there would be a shelf full. His career was remarkable. He was associated for a lifetime with one of the greatest minds of the last century, Alexander Graham Bell, and he was connected with the very heart of aviation's early history. The fact that he was a Ridley grad should make us all very proud indeed.

He came to Ridley in 1893 and developed into an outstanding leader. In his final year he was a prefect, captain of both the football and cricket teams and played first hockey. In 1899 he won the senior Cross Country race and upon graduation in June, 1900, was awarded the Blake Gold Medal for academic achievement. That summer he played cricket for Canada in Philadelphia. He then moved on to the University of Toronto graduating in engineering science in 1906. In his final year there, he captained the Varsity Cricket and Football teams. His 1905 team won the Dominion Rugby championship.

It was after his graduation that he was invited by Bell to join the group of bright young men gathered around him at his summer home at Baddeck, NS., to assist with his experiments. In the Spring of 1907, at Mrs. Bell's suggestion (and financing), the Aerial Experiment Association (AEA) was born with the explicit intention of building a heavier-than-air machine able to sustain controlled flight. There were four in the group under Bell: Glenn Curtiss of Hammondsport, NY, known chiefly as a builder of gasoline engines, John A. D. McCurdy, a family friend of the Bells and a recent graduate of U. of T. engineering, Lt. Thomas Selfridge of the U.S. Army, and newly minted engineer, "Casey" Baldwin, a classmate of McCurdy. Bell had been conducting a series of experiments with tetrahedral kites with a view to understanding the problems of stability. Bell hoped to attach one of the Curtiss motorcycle engines to a kite to better understand the problems of aerodynamic lift, propulsion and control. He had set his sights on the construction of a machine that would fly even before the Wrights had taken off at Kitty Hawk in North Carolina in December, 1903.

In 1907, the AEA experimented with man-carrying kites launched from pontoons on Bras d'Or Lake near Bell's Baddeck home. Early in 1908, the group moved to Hammondsport, NY, where Curtiss' machine shop was located. Four heavier-than-air machines followed in rapid succession.

The first of these was named Red Wing. On a cold March 12, 1908, the Red Wing (shown at left) piloted by "Casey" Baldwin, sped over the icy surface of Lake Keuka, near Hammondsport, NY, bounded into the air and actually flew for a distance of 318 feet (97 m). Lacking any stabilizing device to make it controllable, it flipped over and crashed. Disregarding the unpublicized flights of the Wright brothers, this was the first time that a machine with a motorcycle engine and considerably heavier-than-air (called an aerodrome then) was flown publicly in America.

The Red Wing was followed in a few weeks by the White Wing, designed by Baldwin. It was put on a tricycle undercarriage and taken for trials to an abandoned racetrack nearby. It took off successfully but crashed. Fortunately there were no injuries. Crash followed crash in discouraging succession. The only way to learn was the hard way: by trial and repair, by studying the stresses and strains on the wires and fabric that held it together and by trying to figure out a successful controlling mechanism. On May 22, 1908, a repaired White Wing, with Glenn Curtiss at the controls, flew a distance of 1017 feet (310 m) in 19 seconds and actually landed intact beside the race track. What made this success possible was the invention by Baldwin and Bell of ailerons to provide lateral control. The patent for this innovation was donated to the world in 1917, a gift of inestimable value. In the summer of 1908, a bigger and better aircraft was soon under construction - the June Bug. In August, this craft became the first in the western world to officially record a one kilometer flight.

It would be the AEA's fourth aircraft that would win the most attention – the Silver Dart. It was built and tested in Hammondsport in December, 1908. Records show that "Casey" Baldwin was the first to fly it successfully. The plane was then shipped to Baddeck for further testing and on February 23, 1909, with J.A.D. McCurdy at the controls, it lifted off from the frozen lake to record Canada's first heavier-than-air flight – a modest half mile. On March 12, 1909, a amazing twenty mile flight confirmed the ability of man to actually fly with a degree of safety.

Ridley's connection with Hammondsport, NY, is cemented with the Doherty family, W.E.'04, W.E.(Tony) '36, D.C.'38 and T.L.'67. Hammondsport is the home of the Curtiss Aviation Museum which that family had much to do with establishing. In January of 2008, Brian Iggulden, Anne Kubu and I spent some time with a group of retired aviation enthusiasts in Welland, Ontario, who are building an exact replica of the Silver Dart. They hope to be testing it by September of this year and taking it to Nova Scotia early in 2009 to mark the February 23, 1909, anniversary of McCurdy's historic flight. One of Canada's trained astronauts is slated to be in the pilot seat.

After the aircraft experiments of 1908 and 1909, "Casey" Baldwin, who was treated like a son to the Bells, worked on the development of hydrofoils. During World War Two, he worked on various target vehicles for the navy. He also foresaw high altitude travel and the requirement for pressurized cabins. After Bell's death in 1922, he managed the Bell estate and various Bell enterprises at Baddeck. From 1933 to 1937 he was an elected member of the Nova Scotia Legislature where his legacy became the famous Cabot Trail. In the 1948 issue of ACTA which announced his death, the editor wrote: "[he] is one of those Old Boys of Ridley who made the most of the opportunities that life provides. Such opportunities may pass by the unimaginative, the uninspired, the lazy [but] Casey was none of these; he was a pioneer in its fullest sense, and a man with a precise sense of the duties of citizenship."

So ... the next time you sit in comfort aboard a modern aircraft and you see the ailerons deploy on take off or landing, raise a glass to "Casey" Baldwin, Alexander Graham Bell and the other members of the Aerial Experiment Association of 100 years ago. Brave pioneers indeed!

In 1942 he joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and served as a pilot officer. After the war he attended the University of Toronto where he gained a business degree and then joined the family firm, Gosling Brothers, a leader in Bermuda's wines and spirits industry.

Brother-in-law Richard Power, Craig Scott '97, Graham Snowden, Scott Snowden '97, Mark McGaw '97 and Chris Loat '97.

R. Stanley Longstaff III '70 died suddenly at too young an age. Stan passed away August 20, 2007 in Maine, USA, leaving his wife Shannon and two children, Travis and Taygra. Stan will always be remembered for his gentle giant demeanour, his warm smile, easy laugh and endearing modesty. At Ridley he excelled in football and especially rowing. As a member of the Heavy Eight crew, he won the U.S. Schoolboy twice, the Canadian Schoolboy and the English Henley Schoolboy. A true renaissance man, Stan sang in the choir, played bass drum in the band and base guitar in two memorable school bands during the late 60s. He won the Headmaster's tie for his role in performing the Kyria Mass in Chapel in 1969.

Peter G.B. Marani '53 passed on 23 September 2007 in Port Hope, Ontario. Peter was an avid sailor and a long time member of the RCYC and the Port Hope Yacht Club. He served as a reservist with the Royal Regiment of Canada and retired with the rank of Major. He is predeceased by his wife Merri, with whom he had three children.

Hugh D. Molson, former faculty, died 30 December 2007 in Niagara-on-the-Lake, ON. He leaves his wife Gerda, son Harold and daughter Elizabeth '87. Hugh taught at Ridley for 13 years before obtaining a degree in Library Science. He held various positions at public libraries in Ontario and British Columbia before beginning his 18 year career as Chief Librarian at the Pelham Public Library.

Raymond G.S. Nairn '45 died 9 June 2007 in England.

Charles E. Sellens '88 on 13 September 2007. Charlie died suddenly of heart complications while in Muskoka.

William H. Soules '42 passed away peacefully on 16 October 2007 in Orangeville, Ontario. After graduating from Ridley, he served as a flight officer and fighter pilot in the RCAF until 1945. He attended the University of Toronto and graduated in 1948 with a B.Comm. He then had careers in the Soules Construction Company, as a teacher at Acton High School and vice-principal of two secondary schools. He is predeceased by his wife Marion and was the beloved father of Marshall, Nancy, Jane and Jon as well as grandfather to four and great-grandfather to one.

William B. Stone '54 died on 16 November 2007 in his home in Collingwood, Ontario from congestive heart failure. Bill enjoyed a full, athletic and interesting life. He spent five years at Ridley and thirty-seven years with the Garland Commercial Ranges firm. This job gave him and his family the opportunity to live and travel in Calgary, Vancouver and England. Bill and his wife Sharon have two children, Kelly and Jeff and three grandchildren. Ian C. Wilson former faculty died on 1 September, 2007 in St. Catharines Ontario. He was the Director of Finance at Ridley for many years. He was in the Canadian army and was a treasurer for Kiwanis of St. Catharines Central as well as a volunteer for the local museum, the Niagara Children's Safety Village and the Regional Police. He leaves his wife Meg and two children and four granddaughters.

Past Faculty

Erin M. Hayakawa is now teaching closer to home in Oakville at Abbey Park High School.

J. Kerry Martin received his MA in Canadian History at the fall convocation at Concordia University.

Past Parents

John T. and Bunny Ferguson have both received accolades recently. John was appointed the chairman of Suncor and Bunny received the Order of Canada last spring for her exceptional commitment to voluntary service to many causes in the Edmonton community. They are the parents of Bradley '87, Brent '86 and Gordon '89.

Susan Murray was named Hotelier of the year by Hotelier Magazine and Foodservice and Hospitality Magazine. Sue is the president of Niagara's Finest Inns and the mother of Ryan '94, Erin '96 and Bryce '97.

A remarkable artifact was acquired by the Archives recently through the generosity of Robert F. Lee '58 of Bermuda. Bob spotted the item on e-bay and felt that it should return "home". This pocket watch pictured is inscribed on the inside back cover. It was given to staff member Sgt. J. Williams in 1908 presumably for services rendered as gymnastics, boxing and wrestling coach at that time.

The face of the watch is also interesting because the name W. W. Tyrrill St. Catharines appears in tiny print. Tyrill was the leading jeweler in St. Catharines one hundred years ago. By ordering a certain number of the inner workings and cases, they could have their name printed on the watch face, a common practice at that time.

LAST IMPRESSIONS

I am constantly amazed by the accomplishments of the Ridley family! In this issue of the Ridley Tiger we have a student who went to Vimy Ridge; a past teacher, parent and alumnus who were all awarded the Order of Canada; our property department and their monolithic projects this past summer; as well as our Archival Corner feature this issue - aviation pioneer Casey Baldwin 1900.

As you will read in Jonathan Leigh's Head Lines, we are questioning what makes Ridley unique. Our Headmaster has been pondering this with help from students and staff. A common response is the sense of community that Ridley instills in its students - a community that reaches four corners of the world and all walks of life.

With a database of over 9.000 names it is not uncommon to be in a sidewalk cafe in Europe or a beach in the Caribbean and hear someone yell out "Ridley" when you walk by in your black and orange shirt. So is it the influence of Ridley's global village, the diversity of students or the "family" feel the school instills in its students that inspires Ridleians to do great things?

Whatever the answer, it seems to be working. Ridleians are distinguishing themselves in the fields of medicine, education, sports, politics, the arts and volunteerism. They contribute their time and money to continue the legacy of Ridley and to make a good school - great!

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

We reopened the school after a flurry of activity throughout August, both in the Physical Plant Department and in Admissions. We had been gearing up for the biggest intake Ridley has ever had. Inclusive of the successful introduction of grades 1 to 4, we also had a healthy intake of 10 exchange students from all around the world. With an increased number of boarders, Ridley is now comfortably the biggest boarding school in Ontario standing at 68% of the entire school.

There was much cause for optimism as our facilities included the hugely upgraded Great Hall and kitchens plus the beautiful reworking of the Matthews Library inclusive of a splendid reading garden outside. Beyond that, there was a new key card security system, a hugely enhanced number of SMART boards so that colleagues would have even greater pedagogical opportunity and the construction of five beautiful new tennis courts in the name of Hugh Slater (1944).

With a very full Middle School (143), the building had been readjusted to incorporate two new classrooms for the new grades.

We continue to be guided by our strategic plan and now we are looking strongly at goals three and four which concern the interpretation of our Canadian school within the overall global picture. Beyond that, we have started to generate some major plans for athletic development. Additionally, we are emphasizing our environmental programme through the Green Tiger Project and we continue to enhance the successful promotion of community service which made such a good impression in the last academic year. The Chaplain has set up a committee to look into a morals programme which will run.

Meanwhile a number of new responsibilities have developed. Brian Iggulden '67 has taken on the post of Deputy Head, whilst Stephen Clarke became Assistant Head, Academics. John Dakin joined the faculty as the Director of Athletics and Brian Martin has become the Senior Master with a specific responsibility for aligning the calendar. Meanwhile, Marilyn Martin will be running the increasingly important Financial Assistance programme and Geoff Park '80 is bringing life to the Mentoring and Evaluation of Faculty, especially those who are new. Last year's graduates have moved on to a very diverse selection of universities and colleges. They were the group who were responsible for a most successful 100th Cadet parade and Lieutenant-General J.O. Michel Maisonneuve was the outstanding Inspecting Officer of the day. This grade also came up with a much improved performance on previous years in the Advanced Placement examinations. We continue to emphasize the importance of these exams in establishing real global credibility for the universities of the wider world.

As the new year gathers momentum so the intake of 244 new people seemed to be settling well. There have been some promising athletic performances and a thoroughly enjoyable production of "You Can't Take It With You". Backed by a very active and committed Faculty there is a healthy streak of optimism both for the forthcoming months and indeed the next few years at Ridley.

MARK YOUR CALENDARS NOW FOR OCTOBER 3 - 5, 2008

ACADEMIC. ATHLETIC. ARTISTIC. HUMANITARIAN. SPIRITUAL.

Boys and girls that we would be proud to call our own children. (Quite possibly they even are our own kids!)

Young men and women in our communities who display wondrous talents and attributes

Some needing a catalyst, a positive environment and enriching experience, that will propel them into the ranks of the high achievers

Since 1889, Ridley has been seeking out these young people.
You can help shape Ridley's future by passing on to us information on these talented students. If you know of a child who would be an asset to the school, please drop us a line.

Better still, consider hosting a Ridley admission reception in your home! Let's keep the recruitment pipeline flowing!
